would pass from hence to you may not be able, and that none may cross over from thence to us. 27 And he said, I pray thee
therefore, <sup>p</sup>father, that thou five <sup>r</sup>brethren; that he may also come into this <sup>t</sup>place of tor-

30 And he said, Nay, <sup>x</sup>father Abraham: but if one go to them from the <sup>y</sup>dead, they will <sup>z</sup>re-

If they hear not Mōsēs and the prophets, neither will they be persuaded, if one rise from the dead.

17 And he said unto his

19 And <sup>f</sup>he <sup>g</sup>entered and <sup>h</sup>was passing through <sup>i</sup>Jēr-ī-chō. 2 And behold, a <sup>j</sup>man called by <sup>k</sup>name Zāe-chæ-ūs; and he was a chief <sup>l</sup>publican, and he was <sup>m</sup>rich. 3 And he <sup>n</sup>sought to see Jēz-šūs who he was; and could not for the crowd, because he was little of stature. 4 And he ran on before, and climbed up into a <sup>o</sup>sycamore tree to see him: for he was to pass that way. 5 And when Jēz-šūs came to the place, he looked up, and said unto him, Zāe-chæ-ūs, make haste, and come down; for to-day I must <sup>p</sup>abide at thy <sup>q</sup>house. 6 And he made haste, and came down, and received him <sup>r</sup>joyfully. 7 And when they saw it, they all murmured, saying, He is gone into to lodge with a man that is a <sup>s</sup>sinner. 8 And Zāe-chæ-ūs stood, and said unto the <sup>t</sup>Lord, Behold, Lord, the <sup>u</sup>half of my <sup>v</sup>goods I give to the <sup>w</sup>poor; and if I have <sup>x</sup>wrongfully <sup>y</sup>exacted aught of any man, I <sup>z</sup>restore <sup>a</sup>fourfold. 9 And Jēz-šūs said unto him, <sup>b</sup>To-day is <sup>c</sup>salvation come to this house, forasmuch as <sup>d</sup>he also is a <sup>e</sup>son of <sup>f</sup>Abraham. 10 For <sup>g</sup>the Son of man <sup>h</sup>came to seek and to save that which was lost.

I kept laid up in a <sup>a</sup> napkin: 21 for I <sup>b</sup> feared thee, because thou art an austere man: thou takest up that which thou layedst not down, and reapest that which thou didst not <sup>c</sup> sow. 22 <sup>e</sup> He saith unto him, Out of thine own <sup>f</sup> mouth will I <sup>g</sup> judge thee, thou <sup>h</sup> wicked <sup>i</sup> servant.  32 Afterward the <sup>p</sup> woman also died. 33 In the resurrection

Cf. possible reference to his mother in Lu. 8:3. Possibly younger than brother James—Mt. 4:21; 10:2. Disciple of John the Baptist in all probability—John 1:40. Mentions name of Andrew and implies that the other disciple of John is himself. Probably this is one of the two disciples who first followed Jesus—John 1:35 f. Probably led brother James to Christ—John 1:41. This is not clearly stated, but probable. One of the four fishermen later called to personal service—Mt. 4:21 f. Much more known about John in the Gospels and Acts where the twelve as a whole are mentioned. Tradition adds much more. Irenaeus says expressly that John lived till the time of Trajan, who reigned 98–117. John is a link between the first and third generations of Christians.

Character.—Marked by energy, love, elevation, and spiritual insight. Lived long and reflected profoundly on the great aspects of Christ and Christianity. Probably a celibate. Known as John the Theologian, John the Eagle.

GOSPEL OF JOHN: Authorship.—The writer refers to himself as the disciple whom Jesus loved and never mentions his name. Cf. Luke's "we" sections in Acts. The writer was a Jew, lived in Jerusalem, was an eye-witness of most that he records, was one of the close disciples of Jesus. He was John, since Peter and James are ruled out.

Date.—After the Synoptic Gospels, and probably a good while after them. Somewhere about A.D. 90.

John, Ephesus was probably the place. Cf. possible endorsement of Ephesian elders to the book ("we know"—John 21:24.)

Occasion.—The spread of Gnosticism in Asia (cf. Paul's Epistles to the Colossians and Ephesians) made John anxious to correct the perverted views of the person of Christ.

Purpose.—Stated by the author himself in John 20:30 f. He offers proof from the miracles of Jesus that He is the Son of God.

Person of Christ.—Jesus . God (John 1:1) and man (1:14) both. He had real blood (19:34), and He is the only begotten Son (1:18).

Pre-existence of the Word.—Christ as God's Son existed before His human birth—1:1; 17:5.

Prologue.—John 1:1-18 is a remarkable theological interpretation by the author of the twofold nature of Christ, a forecast of the entire Gospel.

Argument.—21:19-20:31 the author discusses the proof of the Incarnation of the God-Man.

Epilogue.—Chap. 21 is by way of addition after the argument was made.

Manifestation of the Messiah.—The body of the book shows how Jesus progressively revealed Himself as the Messiah.

Development of Hostility.—The hatred of Christ's enemies grows with His self-revelation.

Style.—John writes as an old man after long reflection and contemplation. He has much repetition and even monotony of manner, but the calm elevation of style suits his introspective insight.

Dialogues.—The book is remarkable for vivid dialogue, as in chaps. 1, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7-10, 11, 12, 13-17, 21. In 15 and 16 monologue appears. In 17 the wonderful prayer.

Narratives.—Beautiful narratives occur also in chaps. 1, 2, 4, 11, 21.

Historical Value.—This Gospel has been fiercely attacked as of little historical worth because the style in the dialogues is practically the same as that of the narrative portions. Hence the whole is put by some on a lower plane than the Synoptic Gospels. But none of the Gospels give verbatim reports of the exact Aramaic speeches of Jesus. John gives the sense rather more freely probably, but still he correctly interprets Jesus' miracles. Only eight miracles occur in this Gospel, but several of them are treated at some length and become the occasion of extended address to the people. Cf. John Chaps. 5, 6, 9, 21.

Resurrection of Lazarus.—This famous passage (ch. 11) is bitterly attacked by those who deny the deity of Jesus. Probably Lazarus was still alive when the Synoptic Gospels were written, and hence they did not refer to it. They do give resurrections from the dead by Jesus.

Parables.—No parable occurs in John except brief proverbs or crisp sayings like that in John 2:19, and the allegory of the Good Shepherd in Chap. 10, and the Vine and the Branches in Chap. 15. These symbols (door, shepherd, vine, &c.) are essentially parables.

Demons.—No demoniacs are recorded as healed in this Gospel, though the word occurs, John 8:48.

The Jews.—The author, though a Jew, wrote after the direction of Jerusalem and probably in Ephesus long after the line was sharply drawn between the Jews and the Christians. Hence he refers to the Jews as hostile to Jesus. Cf. Chap. 7, 8, 9, &c.

The Samaritans.—A good deal about them. Cf. John the Baptist's ministry there (ch. 3:23). Woman at Well of Sychar (ch. 4). Jewish sneer at Samaritans (8:48).

Testimony of the Baptist.—In John Chap. 1. Much not elsewhere about the Baptist's testimony to Jesus.

Relation to Synoptics.—Entirely new matter, save feeling of the Five Thousand (ch. 6) and Passover Week (18-20).

Supplementary, not contradictory.—Evidently written in full view of the Synoptic Gospels and gives additional and confirmatory matter. Picture of Jesus essentially the same.—In the Synoptic Gospels (cf. Warfield's "Lord of Glory," Denney's "Jesus and the Gospel") Jesus is both divine and human. The human side of Jesus is prominent also in the Fourth Gospel (cf. ch. 4, 6, 12).

First Year of Ministry.—But for John's Gospel the entire first year of Christ's active work would be unknown.

Feasts and Chronology.—John mentions three Passovers in the Lord's ministry (2:13; 6:4; 13:1). Hence the ministry was over two years in length. There was probably another Passover not mentioned (cf. 5:1). But for John's Gospel no more than one year would be known.

Jerusalem.—In the Synoptic Gospels Galilee is the centre of Christ's work. In John, Jerusalem is the centre. Luke (13:34) implies this Jerusalem ministry. John fills it out.

Striking Characters.—We are indebted to John's Gospel for pictures of a number of interesting persons like John the Baptist, Simon Peter, Nathaniel, Nicodemus, the Woman at the Well, the Man born blind, Lazarus, Mary, Martha, Annas, Caiaphas, Pilate, Joseph of Arimathea, Philip and Thomas.

The Comforter.—This Gospel gives the fullest treatment (14–16) of the work and mission of the Holy Spirit.

Key Words.—Truth, as in 1:17; 8:32; 16:13; 17:17. Life, as in 1:4; 6:33–56; 11:25. Light, as in 1:4 ff.; 1:9; 8:12; 9:5; 12:35. Witness, as in 5:31; 15:27, &c. Believe, as in 1:12; 5:31; 6:30; 8:31, &c. Love, as in 13:34; 14:21; 15:2, &c. Judgment, as in 3:19; 5:22; 7:39, &c. World, as in 1:10; 17:13 f. Darkness, 1:5, &c.

Quotations.—Much fewer than in the Synoptic Gospels. They are found in John 1:23, 29, 51; 2:17; 6:31; 7:38, 42; 8:17, 39; 10:34; 12:13, 14, 27, 38, 40; 13:18; 15:25; 19:24, 36, 37.

Relation to John's Epistles.—The same general style is manifest in the Epistles of John, and the same man wrote them. The Epistles assume the Gospel (Westcott). In the Gospel the deity of Jesus is proved on the assumption of His humanity. In the Epistles the humanity is shown on the assumption of His deity (Westcott).

Relation to Apocalypse.—The differences between the Apocalypse and the Fourth Gospel are so many that some scholars refuse to credit both books to the same author. Some reject one, some the other. There are, however, many points of peculiar contrast and the variations have an explanation. The Apocalypse may be in John's own unedited Greek (Acts 4:13; Rev. 1:19), while the Gospel may have had revision by the Elders of Ephesus (John 21:24).

God sent not the Son into the world to judge the world; but that the world should be saved through him. 18 He that believeth on him is not judged: he that believeth not hath been judged already, because he hath not believed on the name of the only begotten Son of God. 19 And this is the judgment, that the light is come into the world, and men loved the darkness rather than the light; for their works were evil. 20 For every one that doeth evil hateth the light, and cometh not to the light, lest his works should be reproved. 21 But he that doeth the truth cometh to the light, that his works may be made manifest, that they have been wrought in God.

22 After these things came Jē-šūs and his disciples into the land of Jū-dæ-ā; and there he tarried with them, and baptized. 23 And John also was baptizing in Æ-nōn near to Sā-līm, because there was much water there: and they came, and

19 Jēzūs therefore answered and said unto them, Verily, verily, I say unto you, k l The Son can do nothing of himself, but what he seeth the Father doing: for what things soever he doeth, these the Son also doeth in like manner. 20 m For the Father n o loveth the Son, and showeth him all things that himself doeth: and p q greater works than these will he show him, that ye may marvel. 21 For as the Father r raiseth the s dead and t giveth them u life, even so v the Son also giveth life to whom he will. 22 For neither doth the Father w judge any x man, but y he hath given all judgment unto the Son; 23 that all may z honor the Son, even as they honor the Father. a He that honoreth not the Son honoreth not the Father that sent him. 24 Verily, verily, I say unto you, He that heareth my b c word, and d e believeth him that sent me, hath f eternal life, and g h cometh not into i judgment, but hath to the <sup>a</sup> world. 5 For even his <sup>b</sup> brethren did not <sup>c</sup> believe on him. 6 Jēzšus therefore saith unto them, <sup>d</sup> "My time is not yet come; but your time is always ready. 7 'The world cannot <sup>e</sup> hate you; but me it hateth, because I <sup>f</sup> testify of it, that <sup>g</sup> 'its works are <sup>h</sup> evil. 8 Go ye up unto the <sup>i</sup> feast: I go not up <sup>j</sup> unto this feast; because my time is not yet fulfilled. 9 And having said these things unto them, he abode still in <sup>k</sup> Gāl'ī-lēe.

10 But when his brethren were gone up unto the feast, then went he also up, not publicly, but as it were in secret. 11 <sup>l</sup> "The Jews therefore <sup>m</sup> sought him at the feast, and said, Where is he?
12 And there was much murmuring among the multitudes concerning him: <sup>n</sup> some said, He is a <sup>o</sup> good man; others said, Not 14 But when it was now the midst of the feast Jēzšus went up into the <sup>t</sup> temple, and <sup>u</sup> <sup>v</sup> taught.

15 The Jews therefore mar-velled, saying, How knoweth
this man <sup>w</sup> letters, having never learned? 16 Jēzšus therefore answered them, and said, <sup>x</sup> "My teaching is not mine, but his that sent me. 17 <sup>y</sup> "If any man willeth to do his will, he shall

it is of God, or whether I speak

come and take away both our <sup>a</sup> place and our <sup>b</sup> nation. 49 But a certain one of them, <sup>c</sup> Cā'zā-phās, being <sup>d</sup> high priest that <sup>e</sup> year, said unto them, Ye <sup>f</sup> know nothing at all, 50 nor do ye take account that <sup>h</sup> it is expedient for you that one <sup>i</sup> man should <sup>j</sup> die <sup>k</sup> for the people, and that the whole nation perish not. 51 Now this he said not of himself: but being high priest that year, he <sup>l</sup> prophesied that Jēz'sūs should die <sup>m</sup> for the nation; 52 and not for the nation only, but that he might also <sup>n</sup> gather together into <sup>o</sup> one the <sup>p</sup> children of God that are scattered abroad. 53 So from that <sup>q</sup> day forth they <sup>r</sup> took counsel that they might put him to death.

12 <sup>p</sup> Jēz'sūs therefore six days before <sup>q</sup> the passover came to <sup>r</sup> Bēth-ā-n'y, where <sup>s</sup> Lāz-ā-rūs was, whom Jēz'sūs <sup>t</sup> raised from the dead. 2 So they <sup>u</sup> made him a <sup>v</sup> supper there: and <sup>w</sup> Martha served; but Lāz-ā-rūs was one of them that <sup>x</sup> sat at <sup>y</sup> meat with him. 3 <sup>z</sup> Mary therefore took a <sup>a</sup> pound of ointment of <sup>b</sup> pure nard, very precious, and <sup>c</sup> anointed the feet of Jēz'sūs, and wiped his <sup>d</sup> feet with her <sup>e</sup> hair: and the <sup>f</sup> house was filled with the <sup>g</sup> odor of the ointment. 4 But <sup>h</sup> Jū-dās Is-cār-ī-ōt, one of his disciples, that should <sup>i</sup> betray him, saith, 5 Why was not this ointment sold for three hundred <sup>j</sup> shillings, and given to the <sup>k</sup> poor? 6 Now this he said, not because he cared for the poor;

shall ask of the Father in my name, he may give it you. 17 These things <sup>1</sup> I command you, that ye may love one another. 18 <sup>2</sup> If the <sup>2</sup> world <sup>2</sup> hateth you, <sup>3</sup> ye know that it hath <sup>3</sup> hated me before <sup>4</sup> it hated you. 19 <sup>4</sup> If ye were of the world, the world would love its own: but because ye are not of the world, but I chose you out of the world, <sup>5</sup> therefore the world hateth you. 20 <sup>5</sup> Remember the <sup>5</sup> word that I said unto you, <sup>6</sup> A <sup>6</sup> servant is not greater than his lord. If they persecuted me, <sup>7</sup> they will also persecute you; if they <sup>8</sup> kept my word, they will keep yours also. 21 <sup>8</sup> But all these things will they do <sup>9</sup> unto you for my name's sake, <sup>9</sup> because they <sup>10</sup> know not him that sent me. 22 <sup>10</sup> If I had not come and spoken unto them, they had not had <sup>11</sup> sin; but now they have no excuse for their sin. 23 He that hateth me hateth my Father also. 24 If I had not done among them <sup>12</sup> the works which none other did, they had not had sin: but now have they both seen and hated both me and my Father. 25 But this cometh to pass, that the <sup>13</sup> word may be fulfilled that is <sup>13</sup> written in their <sup>14</sup> law, <sup>14</sup> They hated me without a cause.

And upon my vesture did they cast lots.

25 These things therefore the soldiers did. <sup>q</sup> But there were standing by the <sup>r</sup> cross of Jē-šūs <sup>s</sup> his mother, and his mother's <sup>t</sup> sister, Mary the <sup>u</sup> wife of <sup>v</sup> Clō-pās, and <sup>w</sup> Mary Māg-dā-lē-nē. 26 When Jē-šūs therefore saw his mother, and <sup>x</sup> the disciple standing by whom he <sup>y</sup> loved, he saith unto his mother, <sup>z</sup> Woman, behold, thy <sup>a</sup> son! 27 Then saith he to the disciple, Behold, thy mother! And from that <sup>b</sup> hour the disciple took her unto <sup>c</sup> his own <sup>d</sup> home.

28 After this Jē-šūs, <sup>e</sup> knowing that all things are now finished, <sup>f</sup> that the scripture

31 <sup>t</sup> The Jews therefore, because it was <sup>u</sup> the Preparation, that <sup>v</sup> the bodies should not remain on the cross upon the <sup>w</sup> sabbath (for the <sup>x</sup> day of that sabbath was a high day), asked of Pī-lāte that their <sup>y</sup> legs might be broken, and that they might be taken away. 32 The soldiers therefore came, and brake the legs of the first, and of the other that was <sup>z</sup> crucified with him: 33 but when they came to Jē-šūs, and saw that he was dead already, they brake not his legs: 34 howbeit one of the soldiers with a <sup>a</sup> spear pierced his side, and straightway there came out <sup>b</sup> blood and <sup>c</sup> water. 35 And he that hath seen hath <sup>d</sup> borne <sup>e</sup> witness, and his witness is <sup>f</sup> true: and he knoweth that he saith true, that ye also may <sup>g</sup> believe. 36 For these things came to pass, <sup>h</sup> that the scripture might be fulfilled, A <sup>i</sup> bone of him shall not be <sup>j</sup> broken. 37 And again another

He came therefore, and took away his body. 39 And there came also Nic-ō-dē-mūs, he who at the first came to him by night, bringing a mixture of myrrh and aloes, about a hundred pounds. 40 So they took the body of Jē-šūs, and bound it in linen cloths with the spices, as the custom of the Jews is to bury. 41 Now in the place where he was crucified there was a garden; and in the garden a new tomb where-in was never man yet laid. 42 There then because of the Jews' Preparation (for the tomb was 'nigh at hand) they laid Jē-šūs.

20 Now on the first day of the week cometh Mary Māg-dā-lē-nē early, while it was yet dark, unto the tomb, and seeth the stone taken away from the tomb. 2 She runneth therefore, and com-

*ACTS OF THE APOSTLES: Title.—Not in all the early manuscripts and, in truth, it is not an exact description of the book. Most of the Twelve Apostles are not referred to after chap. 2, and the bulk of the book recounts the work of other than the Twelve, as Stephen and Philip (6-8), Barnabas (11), and Paul (9, 13-23). Besides, a number of speeches occur also by Peter, Stephen, Paul. But the title is not likely to be displaced by a better one, if such an one could be found.

Author.—He is the same as the author of the Gospel according to Luke (Acts 1:1), to which book he alludes. He is a companion of Paul (Acts 16:10) and a physician. It is now demonstrated that Luke is the author of both Gospel and Acts.

Theophilus.—He is called "most excellent" (Lu. 1:3), and probably was a man of some standing. "The Acts," as the "Gospel," was intended not merely for his personal but for general circulation, especially among the Gentile Christians. Luke had in mind the same circle of readers for both books.

Date.—It was written after the Gospel, though how long after is not known. Critics do not agree; but it is probable on the whole that Acts was written by Luke in Rome while with Paul during his first imprisonment. This would explain best the sudden close of Acts with Paul still prisoner (28:30 f.), after two years in Rome in his own hired house.

Two Possible Editions.—Lightfoot suggested that Luke made two editions of both Gospel and Acts. Blass holds that in the Acts he issued a rough first edition (text of D), and then revised it for Theophilus and sent it east (text of B). The revised he considers a briefer text. The point is still in dispute.

Relation to Luke's Gospel.—The Acts is a continuation of the Gospel. Indeed the same event, the Ascension, closes one book and opens the other. Luke considers that it is the same story "concerning all that Jesus began, both to do and to teach" (Acts 1:1).

Relation to Paul's Epistles.—There is no mention of any of Paul's Epistles in the Acts. It is not certain that Luke had seen any of them when he wrote the book. If he wrote in Rome about A.D. 63, the Pastoral Epistles had not, of course, been written. The Epistles of the First Imprisonment had been sent on their mission. The other Epistles were sent to Thessalonica, Corinth, Galatia, Rome. The one to Rome he could have seen. The one to Galatia he probably did not see. Thessalonica and Corinth were not far from Philippi. The account of the installation of the Lord's Supper in Lu. 22:17-20 is quite similar to that in I Cor. 11:23-26. Paul claims to have had a direct revelation from the Lord on the subject (I Cor. 11:23). Luke may indeed have seen Paul's narrative. But, however this may be, the Acts and the Epistles supplement each other in a truly marvellous manner. Cf. Paley, "Hæc Paulina," and Knowling, "The Witness of the Epistles." The absence of references makes the supplementing all the more striking. There are difficulties as concerning Acts 15 and Gal. 2, but they are not insuperable.

Sources.—In the Gospel (1:1-4) Luke tells the character of the material used. As a competent historian we merely assume that he used the same care in writing Acts. He was himself a witness of part of the narrative and he there speaks in the first person—16:10-40; 20:6-28:31. We do not know his sources for the remainder of the book, but it is not difficult to guess it in part. For all of Paul's career sketched by Luke he had Paul himself with whom Luke was so long as in Caesarea and Rome. Then, besides, John Mark was in Rome with Luke and could tell much about the early apostolic era. Luke saw also Mnason, an early disciple—21:16. He was the guest of Philip in Caesarea (Acts 21:8), besides the long stay in Caesarea. Luke saw James, the Lord's brother, in Jerusalem (21:18), who was present in Jerusalem continuously since the Great Day of Pentecost. Cf. Knowling, "Expositor's Greek Testament." It is plain that he had ample material.

Choice of Material.—The principles that governed Luke in the use of the abundant material are not made plain to us in the book. One feels sure that accuracy and interest were two of them. He begins with Jerusalem, which, not Galilee, is now the centre of Christian life. Then he extends the circle to Samaria and Philistia. Then the Gentiles come in, and the whole Roman Empire is brought within the horizon. The book closes at Rome, the Capital of the Empire.

Main Personages.—The work expands through new agents. At Jerusalem the Holy Spirit falls upon the 120 and Peter is the leading spirit ably supported by John. Peter and John arouse the antagonism of the Sadducees by reason of the preaching of the resurrection of Jesus. But Stephen, not one of the Twelve, stirs the Pharisees to activity by his accent on the spiritual nature of worship. Philip, another of the Seven Deacons, carries the gospel to Samaria and Philistia. Peter and Barnabas (after the men of Cyprus and Cyrene) are the early instruments in starting the work among the Gen-titles. But these all pale before Paul, the Apostle to the Gentiles, whose activities occupy more than half of the Acts. Paul is Luke's hero in this volume. In the outward movement new leaders come to the front.

The First Church History.—In a true sense of the term "The Acts" is the first book of Church history. Luke has the grasp of the situation of the real historian. He is not a mere chronicler. He is interpreting for us the origin and early growth of Christianity. The cause of Christ has much to be grateful for in that the first historian of Christian origins was Luke.

A Book of Missions.—The dominant note of the book is the missionary cause. The disciple first had to understand the significance of the life and message of Jesus. They had won back faith and hope by the resurrection of Christ. With the outpouring of the Holy Spirit on the Day of Pentecost they grasped the full meaning of the work of Christ in relation to the Old Testament and the present (see Peter's address in Acts chap. 2). They were charged with power to expound that story to others. The Acts is the wonderful unfolding of this growing apprehension how Hellenistic Jews could be saved by faith in Jesus, how Samaritans (half Jews) could be redeemed, how proselytes (cf. the Ethiopian eunuch) could be saved by Christ, how Romans (cf. Cornelius) and Greeks (Antioch and the missionary tours of Paul) could be redeemed without becoming Jews. This was a difficult process on the part of the Twelve Apostles themselves (cf. Peter at Joppa, Caesarea, Jerusalem, Antioch), but it was accomplished. Some of the Jerusalem Christians never rose to this breadth of view. They fought Paul, who became the exponent of the free gospel of grace for the whole world. Acts recounts this battle for freedom and shows how Paul was finally caught in the meshes of Jewish hate. The book leaves Paul a prisoner in Rome because, probably, Luke wrote while in Rome with him.

Judaizing Controversy.—The conflict with the Pharisaic wing of the Jerusalem Christians (Acts 15) gave a new conception of Christianity, one free from the shackles of Jewish ceremonialism. The Gospel took wings and flew all over the Roman world, a spiritual gospel, the Pauline interpretation of the Gospel endorsed by Peter, John, and James, the Lord's Brother.

Holy Spirit in Acts.—In a real sense the book is the record of how the Holy Spirit filled the early Christians and sent them out into the world as spiritual dynamos. The power of Peter, of Stephen, of Philip, of Paul, is the power of the Holy Spirit.

Power the Keynote.—The dominant idea of the book is that of power, the power of the Holy Spirit.

Acts and the Ministry of Jesus.—The writer of Acts is definitely aware of the work of Christ and refers to his own book on that subject (Acts 1:1). He conceives his second volume to be a continuation of the first volume and a continuation of the work of Jesus. In the Gospels we have the record of what "Jesus began both to do and to teach" (both works and teaching). In the Acts Jesus is still inspirer and director of the activities of the Christians. Cf. this conception of Luke (Acts 1:1), of the continuing activity of Jesus after his Ascension with the last message of Jesus recorded in Mt. 28:20: "I am with you always, even unto the end of the world."

The Holy Spirit in Acts.—But Jesus works through the Holy Spirit in the Apostolic period (and now). He had said that the Comforter would come to carry on his work "forever"—John 14:16. This great event is recorded as realized in Acts 2. The Dispensation of the Holy Spirit is thus inaugurated. He was not simply to teach the disciples all truth (John 14:26), especially the comprehension of Christ Himself (John 16:14), but they would do greater works (in degree, not kind) than Jesus had done—John 14:12 f. This story of expansion is set forth in the Acts. The great Day of Pentecost itself shows more converts (three thousand) than all of the earthly ministry of Jesus did (above five hundred, I Cor. 15:6). The Promise of the Father was realized on that day. The rest of the Book of Acts is a description of the disciples at work under the guidance of the Holy Spirit. It is, in a true sense, the Acts of the Holy Spirit. In Jerusalem, in Caesarea, in Antioch, in Troas, the Holy Spirit moves and guides to the larger movements in the apostolic work.

Persecution.—Acts is full of persecution of the disciples by the Sadducees (4 and 5), by the Pharisees (6-9), by the state (Herod Agrippa, ch. 12), by Pharisaic Christians (Acts 15:1 ff.), and from Acts 13 to the end of the book there is a succession of persecutions for Paul and his friends all over the world. But Paul is chief sufferer as he had once been chief persecutor.

Credibility of Acts.—It used to be the custom for some scholars to belittle the historical value of Acts. But Luke has been vindicated on so many points of detail that he is now in high favor as a reliable historian. See Chase, "The Credibility of Acts"; Ramsay, "St. Paul the Traveller."

Speeches in Acts.—In particular the speeches in Acts are said to be made to order by Luke. But Luke heard Paul's speech at Miletus (ch. 20) and those in Jerusalem, Caesarea, and Rome—chs. 21-28. The speeches of Paul at Antioch in Pisidia (ch. 13) and at Athens (ch. 17) may very well have been preserved by Paul in notes and suit marvelously the conditions. In like manner Luke may have gotten notes of Peter's addresses, and Paul heard Stephen's—Ch. 7. There is no real ground for disputing the accuracy of their addresses without insisting on a verbatim report.

Three Parts of Acts.—The book falls naturally into three parts. One has Jerusalem for a centre (chs. 1-12); another has Antioch as a centre (chs. 13:1-21:15); the other shows Paul battling with his enemies in Jerusalem, Caesarea, Rome—chs. 21:15-28:31. These are thus shifting centres of Christian influence. The power of Christianity follows the line of missionary activity, not of mere verbal orthodoxy.

Picture of Jesus in Acts.—Jesus had said that the Holy Spirit would teach the disciples about Him. In "The Acts" we see the disciples expounding the work and words of Jesus. After the great Pentecost they are able to interpret Jesus to men with power. They use His Resurrection in connection with His claims to prove His messiahship. They worship Him as Lord and Saviour. The Christology of the Acts is essentially the same as that of the Epistles and harmonizes with the claims of Jesus in the Gospels.

Conversion of Saul.—The two outstanding events in the Acts are the coming of the Holy Spirit at Pentecost and the conversion of Saul of Tarsus. These two events explain the story of the book and, indeed, largely explain the history of early Christianity.

Personality of Paul.—The figure of Paul dominates the book as he has largely dominated (and rightly so) Christian history since the first century.

Voyage to Rome.—Chapter 27 is a notable contribution to the world's knowledge of ancient seafaring apart from one's interest in Paul, the most important source indeed for that knowledge.

Chronology of Acts.—Luke mentions several rulers like Herod Agrippa (death, ch. 12) and Felix and Festus. But it is not very easy to work out a consistent chronology of the events in Acts. As a working hypothesis we may assume that Paul was with Barnabas at Antioch about A. D. 44, and that Festus succeeded Felix A. D. 59 or 60.

Old Testament Quotations.—They are found in Acts 1:20; 2:17-21, 25-28; 3:22 f. (cf. 7:37). 25; 4:25, 26; 7:3, 5, 6 f., 9, 10, 11, 12, 13, 14, 15 f., 17-19, 20 f., 22, 23-29, 30, 31, 32, 33 f., 35, 37, 40, 44, 46 f., 49 f.; 8:32 f.; 13:17-21, 22, 25, 33, 34, 41, 47; 14:15 (17:24); 15:16 f.; 17:31; 23:5; 26:18, 22 f.; 28:26 f.

Acts and the Epistles of Paul.—It is clear that the Acts was written by Luke in complete independence of the Epistles of Paul. It is hardly probable that Luke while at Philippi saw the Thessalonian Epistles or the Corinthian group. It is reasonably clear that he had not seen Galatians when he wrote Acts 15. In Gal. chap. 2, Paul gives the private account of the Jerusalem Conference to show his independence of the Twelve, though showing his essential agreement with them. In Acts chap. 15, Luke gives the general recital of the public aspects of the meeting, but with hints of friction (Acts 15:4 f.). It is possible that Luke was the amanuensis of Paul during the first Roman Captivity—Col. 4:14. If so, he would be familiar with the contents and style of these Epistles. It is just in these letters that we find most similarity between Acts and Paul's Epistles. But on the whole it may be said that the Epistles were written in independence of the Acts and the Acts in independence of the Epistles. The Epistles of the captivity do not touch the period covered by the Acts, save the two years in Rome—Acts 28:30.

Luke may have had the benefit of Paul's suggestions at many points for the latter part of Acts, as he may have received help from John Mark and Philip for the earlier portions, not to mention notes of the various addresses which Luke did not himself hear. But there is no apparent effort to harmonize Acts with the Epistles. Still they supplement each other in a marvellous manner. Wherever they touch they must be blended to get the full light. Paul is intent on the problems in hand when he writes his Epistles. Luke has in mind the movements of Christianity in its expanding progress and selects his material for his own purpose. Luke gives us a real history, though along a line of his own choosing.

† GRECIAN, or GREEK-SPEAKING JEWS.—In Acts 6:1 a distinction is made between the Christian Jews who belonged to the Dispersion and spoke Greek (Hellenists), and the Christian Jews who were Palestinians and spoke Aramaic (Hebrews). The term Hellenist occurs also in Acts 9:29 for Jews of the Dispersion now in Jerusalem; while in Acts 11:20 the Revised Version (American) correctly reads "Greeks also."

delivered unto us. 15
that sat in the council,
fixing their eyes on him,
saw his face as it had been the face of an angel.

7 And the high priest
said, Are these things so? 2
And he said,

1 Brethren and fathers,
hearken: 1 The God of glory
appeared unto our father Abraham, when he was in Mesopotamia, before he dwelt in Harna, 3 and said unto him, Get thee out of thy land, and from thy kindred, and come into the land which I shall show thee. 4 Then came
he out of the land of the Chaldæans,
and dwelt in Harna:
and from thence, when his father was dead, God removed him into this land, wherein ye now dwell: 5 and he gave him none inheritance in it, no, not so much as to set his foot on:
and he promised that he would give it to him in possession,
and to his seed after him,
when as yet he had no child. 6
And God spake on this wise, that his seed should sojourn in a strange land, and that they here he <sup>s</sup> hath authority from

 laying his hands on him said,

21 And upon a set day Herod arrayed himself in royal apparel, and sat on the throne, and made an oration unto them.

22 And the people shouted, saying, The voice of a god, and not of a man. 23 And immediately an angel of the Lord smote him, because he gave not God the glory: and he was eaten of worms, and gave up the ghost.

Ionians. Doctrinal—I and II Corinthians; Galatians; Romans. Christological—Philippians; Philemon; Colossians; Ephesians. Pastoral—I Timothy; Titus; II Timothy; I Cor. 5:9.

Lost Epistles.—Paul probably alluded to an Epistle of the Corinthians. Another lost Epistle of Paul's may also be referred to in II Cor. 2:3, 4; 7:8, 12, though the reference may be to I Corinthians. The Epistles of Paul were at once imitated by pretenders—II Thess. 2:2. Paul usually used amanuenses, as Tertius in Romans—Rom. 16:22. But he signed the closing salutation in his own hand—I Cor. 16:21; Col. 14:18; II Thess. 3:17. In Gal. 6:11-18 he seems to have written the whole paragraph (his large handwriting). He probably wrote the little Epistle of Philemon himself—Philemon 19. He considered his Epistles authoritative and binding on disciples—I Cor. 5:9; 7:40; 14:37; II Cor. 10:10, 11; 13:10; Col. 4:16; I Thess. 5:27; II Thess. 2:15; 3:12, 13, 17; Philemon 21. Paul wrote business letters on church business—I Cor. 16:3. Some of his Epistles passed from church to church—Col. 4:16. Peter puts them on a par with Old Testament Scriptures—II Pet. 3:16. One may distinguish between a purely personal letter, like Philemon, full of the Christian spirit, however, and doctrinal or ecclesiastical discussions, like Galatians and Ephesians. The most of them partake of both features, and all are in the informal style of letters. The first part is usually doctrinal and the second part practical and personal. Cf. I Corinthians, Colossians, and the Epistles to Timothy and Titus. The Epistle to the Hebrews, while addressed to the Hebrews (of unknown authorship), is more of a treatise (ancient homily or sermon), though some personal items come at the close. The Book is a great argument with strong exhortations.

The Seven Catholic, or General Epistles (James, I Peter, Jude, II Peter, I, II, III John) are not all general. II John is addressed either to a church or a lady, while III John is sent to Gaius. The letters to the seven churches (Rev. 1:11) are real epistles to the circle of seven important cities in the Roman province of Asia. A copy of the Book of Revelation was probably sent to each church. Twenty-one of the twenty-seven New Testament books are thus letters, and one of the other six (Revelation) has seven letters in the body of the Book (Chaps. 2 and 3).

from the first, if they be willing to testify, that after the strictest sect of our religion I lived a Pharisee. 6 And now I stand here to be judged for the hope of the promise made of God unto our fathers; 7 unto which promise our twelve tribes, earnestly serving God night and day, hope to attain. And concerning this hope I am accused by the Jews, O king! 8 Why is it judged incredible with you, if God doth raise the dead? 9 I verily thought with myself that I ought to do many things contrary to the name of Jesus of Nazareth. 10 And this I also did in Jerusalem: and I both shut up many of the saints in prisons, having received authority from the chief priests, and when they were put to death I gave my vote against them. 11 And punishing them oftentimes in all the synagogues, I strove to make them blasphemous; and being exceedingly mad against them, I persecuted them even unto foreign cities.

And the Lord said, I am Jesus whom thou persecutest. 16 But arise, and stand upon thy feet: for to this end have I appeared unto thee, to appoint thee a minister and a witness both of the things wherein thou hast seen me, and of the things wherein I will appear unto thee; 17 delivering thee from the people, and from the Gentiles, unto whom I send thee, 18 to open their eyes, that they may turn from neither <sup>a</sup>sun nor <sup>b</sup>stars shone upon us for many <sup>c</sup>days, and no small tempest lay on us, all <sup>d</sup>hope that we should be saved was now taken away. 21 And when they <sup>e</sup>had been long without <sup>f</sup>food, then <sup>g</sup>Paul stood forth in the midst of them, and said, <sup>h</sup>Sirs, ye should have hearkened unto me, and not have set sail from <sup>i</sup>Crète, and have gotten this <sup>j</sup>injury and loss. 22 And now I <sup>k</sup>exhort you to be <sup>l</sup>of good <sup>m</sup>cheer; for there shall be no <sup>n</sup>loss of <sup>o</sup>life among you, but only of the <sup>p</sup>ship. 23 For <sup>q</sup>there stood by me this <sup>r</sup>night an <sup>s</sup>angel of the <sup>t</sup>God whose I am, <sup>u</sup>whom also I <sup>v</sup>serve, 24 saying, <sup>w</sup>Fear not, Paul; <sup>z</sup>thou must stand before <sup>a</sup>Cæsar: and lo, <sup>b</sup>God hath granted thee <sup>c</sup>all them that sail with thee. 25 Wherefore, sirs, be of good cheer: for I <sup>d</sup>believe God, that it shall be even so as it hath been spoken unto me. 26 But we must <sup>e</sup>be cast upon a certain <sup>f</sup>island.

* ROMANS: By Paul at Corinth.—We know where Paul was when he wrote to the Roman Christians. He is the guest of Gaius (Rom. 16:23), and Erastus the treasurer of the city (ibid) sends salutation. He is about to leave these parts (16:23 f.) for Jerusalem, as he did later, via Macedonia (Acts 20:3 f.). Meanwhile he sends greeting to the Romans by Phoebe of Cenchreae (Rom. 16:1), the probable bearer of the letter.

Date.—The Epistle was written therefore just before Paul left Corinth for Jerusalem (Rom. 15:25 f.) with the collection. He arrived in Jerusalem with the collection at Pentecost—Acts 20:16; 21:26 f. The date of the Epistle is therefore early spring of A. D. 56 or 57.

Paul's Plans.—He hopes to go on his way to Spain after his visit to Jerusalem—Acts 19:21; Rom. 15:24, 28.

Reason for Visit to Rome.—He wishes fruit in Rome also (Rom. 1:13-15), and in particular wishes to develop the virgin soil of Spain in harmony with his profession for pioneer work—15:16-24.

Statesmanship of Paul.—He has the conception of a world-wide Kingdom for Christ (cf. Mt. 28:19 ff.) that shall take in the east as well as the west—Rom. 1:15; 15:16 f. In a measure he has given his message to the east—15:23. He now yearns that the west may come to Christ.

No New Purpose with Paul.—He had indeed often planned to go to Rome (1:13), but had been hindered till now—15:23.

Origin of the Church in Rome.—No light is thrown on this subject save that Paul was not the founder. It is improbable that Peter was, else Paul would not have written as he did in Rom. 15:19 f. about another man's foundation. The Church in all probability was the indirect result of the conversion of some of the Jews and sojourners from Rome on the great Day of Pentecost—Acts 2:10.

Character of the Church.—It was partly Jewish and partly Gentile; cf. Rom. 2:9 f.

Integrity of the Epistle.—Some critics argue that the original Epistle closed at the end of chapter 14, since in some MSS. the doxology of 16:25-27 comes at the close of that chapter. Others find a difficulty in the many names mentioned in chapter 16. But Rome was the center of the life of the world. Christians, like other people, drifted to Rome, and among them many of Paul's companions and friends from the east. The unity of the book is the most natural position in view of the facts.

Language.—Even in Rome Greek was the language in common use, especially among those who had drifted from the east. Latin was alone used in North Africa, but in Rome Greek was spoken by many who could not use Latin. Paul himself probably knew Latin, but Greek was the common means of communication in the Empire.

Gospel of Paul.—In a true sense this Epistle is Paul's Gospel: 2:16. The very fact that he had not yet been to Rome led him to give a more extended discussion of the fundamental truths preached by him. It is thus more formal and less incidental than Galatians. It is a real letter, but partakes also of the nature of a treatise. It is not a book on systematic theology, but a vital exposition of the gospel message on broad lines properly related to Jewish ceremonialism and Greek speculative philosophy. Paul was the first true Christian philosopher.

Not Polemical.—His purpose was not therefore primarily polemical, as was the case in Galatians. He aims rather to give an interpretation of the message of Christ to both Jew and Gentile. He expounds a universal gospel. The Judaizing controversy is still in his mind as part of the historical background, but not as the main consideration or occasion of the Epistle.

Careful Preface.—He has a more formal and extended Preface (1:1-7) that really sketches the "Gospel of God" in broad outlines and Paul's relation to it and theirs also.

Apologetic Statement of Theme.—In 1:8-17 Paul explains why he writes and tells his message. He is to discuss "a righteousness of God" as revealed in the Gospel.

The Gentiles lost.—He first proves the need of the Gospel of God's righteousness since the Gentiles are lost without it—1:18-32.

The Jews lost.—He then shows that the Jews also are lost without this Gospel of Grace—2:1-3:20. Hence all the world is lost in sin.

Brief Exposition of Paul's Gospel.—In 3:21-31 in short compass Paul sets forth his gospel, the atoning death of Christ as the basis, the personal trust of the believer in Jesus, the consequent justification of the believer by God.

Abraham and Justification.—For the benefit of the Jewish Christians Paul shows how Abraham himself exercised Faith and was justified (cf. ch. 4). The Blessed Peace of the Christian is set forth in 5:1-11.

Adam and Christ.—A parallel is run between the relation of Adam to the race and of Christ to the redeemed in Ch. 5:12-21.

Sanctification.—Justification does not mean approval of evil, but has for its ultimate object real goodness. God's righteousness begins with justification (imputed righteousness)
 and ends with sanctification—Chs. 6-8.

Failure of the Jews explained.—It was an unpleasant task, but Paul explains why the Gentiles have taken the place of the Jews in the spiritual Israel—Chs. 9-11.

Personal Consecration.—With Paul election means the obligation to personal piety in practical relations with the church and the world—Chs. 12-13.

The Weak Brother.—In particular the strong brother was to help the weak in a matter like eating meats offered to idols
 —14:1-15:13.

The Future for Paul.—He unbosoms his purpose to the Roman brethren—15:14-33.

Paul's Influence in Rome.—It is already great, as is plain from his many friends there—Ch. 16. He has a host of fellow-workers all over the world.

12 Let not sin therefore <sup>a</sup>reign

of the <sup>a</sup> flesh; but <sup>b</sup> they that are after the <sup>c</sup> Spirit <sup>d</sup> the things of the Spirit. 6 <sup>e</sup> For the <sup>f</sup> mind of the flesh is <sup>g</sup> death; but the mind of the Spirit is <sup>h</sup> life and <sup>i</sup> peace: 7 because the mind of the flesh is <sup>j</sup> in enmity against <sup>k</sup> God; for it is not <sup>l</sup> subject to the <sup>m</sup> law of God, neither indeed can it be: 8 and they that are <sup>n</sup> in the flesh cannot please God. 9 But <sup>o</sup> ye are not <sup>p</sup> in the flesh but in the Spirit, if so be that the Spirit of God <sup>q</sup> dwelleth in you. But if any <sup>r</sup> man hath not the Spirit of <sup>s</sup> Christ, he is none of his. 10 And <sup>t</sup> if Christ is in you, the <sup>u</sup> body is dead because of <sup>v</sup> sin; but the spirit is life because of <sup>w</sup> righteousness. 11 But if the Spirit of him that <sup>x</sup> raised up Jē-sūs from the dead dwelleth in you, <sup>y</sup> he that raised up Christ Jē-sūs from the dead shall give life also to your mortal bodies <sup>z</sup> through his Spirit that dwelleth in you.

12 So then, <sup>a</sup> brethren, we are <sup>b</sup> debtors, not to the flesh, <sup>c</sup> to live after the flesh: 13 for <sup>d</sup> if ye live after the flesh, ye must die; but <sup>e</sup> if by the Spirit ye <sup>f</sup> put to death

36<sup>a</sup> For thy sake we are killed all the day long; We were accounted as sheep for the slaughter.

37 Nay, in all these things we are more than conquerors through him that loved us. 38 For I am persuaded, that neither death, nor life, nor angels, nor principalities, nor things present, nor things to come, nor powers, 39 nor height, nor depth, nor any other creature, shall be able to separate us from the love of God, which is in Christ Jēsus our Lord.

9 I say the truth in Christ, I lie not, my conscience bearing witness with me in the Holy Spirit, 2 that I have great sorrow and unceasing pain in my heart. 3 For I could wish that I myself were anathema from Christ for my brethren's sake, my kinsmen according to the flesh: 4 who are Israelites; whose is the adoption, and the glory, and the covenants, and the giving of the law, and the service of God, and the promises; 5 whose are the fathers, and of whom is Christ as concerning the flesh, who is over all, God blessed for ever. Amen.

6 But it is not as though the word of God hath come to nought. For they are not all Israelites, that are of Israel: neither, because they are Abraham's seed, are they all children: but, In Isaac shall thy seed be called. That is, it is not the children of the flesh that are children of God; but the children of the promise are reckoned for a seed. 9 For this is a word of promise, According to this season will I come, and Sarah shall have a son, 10 And not only so; but Rebekah also having conceived by one, even by our father Isaac—11 for the children being not yet born, neither having done anything good or bad, that the purpose of God according to election might stand, not of works, but of him that calleth, 12 it was said unto her, The elder shall serve the younger. 13 Even as it is written, Jacob I loved, but Esau I hated.

the <sup>a b</sup> glory of God. 8 For I say that <sup>c</sup> Christ hath been made a <sup>d</sup> minister of <sup>e</sup> the circumcision for the <sup>f</sup> truth of <sup>h</sup> God, that he might confirm <sup>i k</sup> the promises given unto the <sup>l m</sup> fathers, 9 and that <sup>n o</sup> the Gēn'z-tiles might <sup>q</sup> glorify God for his <sup>r</sup> mercy; as it is <sup>s</sup> written,

<sup>1</sup> Therefore will I <sup>2</sup> give <sup>t</sup> praise unto thee among the <sup>3</sup> Gēn'z-tiles,
And <sup>u</sup> sing unto thy <sup>v</sup> name.

10 And again he saith,
<sup>w</sup> Rejoice, ye <sup>3</sup> Gēn'z-tiles,
with his people.

11 And again,
<sup>5</sup> Praise the Lord, all ye <sup>3</sup> Gēn'z-tiles;

And let all the peoples praise
him.

12 And again, <sup>z</sup> I-sā'z-jāh saith, <sup>u</sup> There shall be <sup>2</sup> the root of

And he that ariseth to rule
over the <sup>3</sup> Gēn'z-tiles;

13 Now the God of hope fill you with all <sup>e</sup> joy and <sup>f</sup> peace in <sup>g</sup> believing, that ye may abound in hope, <sup>h</sup> in the power of the <sup>i</sup> Holy Spirit.

14 And <sup>j</sup> I myself also am <sup>k</sup> persuaded of you, my <sup>l m</sup> brethren, that ye yourselves are full of <sup>n o</sup> goodness, filled with <sup>p</sup> all <sup>q</sup> knowledge, able also to <sup>r</sup> admonish one another. 15 But I write the more <sup>s</sup> boldly unto you in some measure, as putting you again in remembrance, because of <sup>t</sup> the grace that was given me of God, 16 that I should be <sup>u v</sup> a minister of Christ Jē-sūs unto the <sup>3</sup> Gēn'z-tiles, <sup>w</sup> ministering the <sup>2</sup> s gospel of God, that the <sup>a b</sup> offering up of the Gēn'z-tiles might be made <sup>c</sup> acceptable, being <sup>d</sup> sanctified by the Holy Spirit. 17 I have therefore my <sup>e</sup> glorying in Christ Jē-sūs in <sup>h</sup> things pertaining to God. 18

For I will not dare to speak of any <sup>i</sup> things save those which <sup>j</sup> Christ wrought through me, for the <sup>k</sup> obedience of the <sup>3</sup> Gēn'z-tiles, by <sup>l</sup> word and <sup>m</sup> deed, 19 in the power of <sup>n</sup> signs and wonders, <sup>o</sup> in the power of <sup>10</sup> the Holy Spirit; so that <sup>p</sup> from <sup>q</sup> Je-ryz-sālēm, and round about even <sup>r</sup> unto Il-l'r-ī-eūm, I have <sup>s</sup> fully <sup>t</sup> preached the <sup>8</sup> gospel of Christ; 20 yea, <sup>12</sup> making it my aim so to <sup>13</sup> preach the gospel, not where Christ was already named, <sup>u</sup> that I might not build upon another

* I CORINTHIANS.—Universally admitted as Paul's. A very few eccentric critics indeed who doubt everything question this Epistle. But even Baur admitted the genuineness of I Corinthians.

Date.—We know the time of year, the spring, before Pentecost—I Cor. 16:8. The place of writing was Ephesus (ibid.). It was written shortly before the close (ibid.) of his three years' stay in Ephesus—Acts 20:31. This year was probably either 56 or 57. It was during Paul's third missionary tour and a year before his final visit to Jerusalem.

Parties in Corinth.—Apparently four parties had sprung up in Corinth (I Cor. 1:12) since Paul's departure and Apollos' arrival. Apollos had left and would not return—I Cor. 12. The Pauline party and the Apollos party were drawn along lines of personal preference apparently. The Cephas party represented a doctrinal cleavage, the Judaizers, who made an improper use of the name of Peter. The Christ party probably was a reaction of a pious element against the spirit of faction that itself caused a new faction. But eventually (see chs. 10-13) there were only two parties—the Pauline party (the majority) and the anti-Pauline Judaizers (the minority). The Apollos and Christ parties apparently took Paul's side in the controversy.

Paul's Communications with the Corinthians.—Apollos himself could tell Paul much—I Cor. 16:8. The household of Chloe had told him the story of the divisions—1:11. Paul sent Timothy to them to restore order—4:17; 16:10. He purposed to come himself (4:19 ff.) and may possibly have made a short visit—II Cor. 2:2; 13:1. He had written them a letter now lost—I Cor. 5:9. The Corinthians had written Paul a letter concerning marriage (7:1), meats offered to idols (8:1), the spiritual gifts (12:1), and the resurrection—15:1. They had sent a special embassy (possibly with the letter) to see Paul—16:17. He replies with what we call "I Corinthians." Paul had finally sent Titus who was to report to him at Troas—II Cor. 2:12.

Complicated Situation at Corinth.—It was a mixed condition of affairs that called forth this great Epistle. It was a great mission church in a commercial emporium open to all the breezes of error that blow, beset by every form of immorality, torn by strife, possessed of a large number of persons with high spiritual endowments, an excitable, inflammable church. The various problems are discussed separately.

The Dissensions.—The first four chapters treat this vital question. There is much passion and even indignation in Paul's protest against the misuse made of his name in the matter. He takes occasion to make a formal exposition of his conception of the Cross of Christ as the heart of the Gospel. He scouts their false, pretentious philosophy and urges the real wisdom of God.

Immoral Practices.—In chapters 5 and 6 he condemns with much vehemence the church's lackadaisical passing by a case of incest and demands the man's expulsion from the church. He charges them with going to law with each other before the heathen and with the spirit of licentiousness.

Marriage.—Chapter 7 deals with marriage and its problems as existing in Corinth. There were two parties among them. One held that all should marry. The other held that none should marry. Both were wrong. The various aspects of the matter receive discussion.

Meats offered to idols.—Chapters 8-10 treat the grave problem (to them) of eating meat that had been presented as an offering in a heathen temple. It is a question of casuistry, and calls for a principle that applies to all casuistical problems.

Head Dress of Women in Worship.—In 11:1-16 this matter receives earnest treatment.

Misconduct in Observance of the Lord's Supper.—The excesses of the Corinthians went as far as this. Some of them actually got drunk at the Lord's table. Paul interprets the whole subject—11:17-34.

Spiritual Gifts.—Chapters 12-14. Wrangling had come in the very use of the gifts of the Holy Spirit. Love (13) is the key to the matter.

The Resurrection.—Chapter 15. The classic on the subject. He proves the fact of the resurrection of Jesus and explains the nature of the resurrection body.

10 Now <sup>a</sup> I <sup>b</sup> beseech you, <sup>c</sup> brethren, through the <sup>d</sup> name of our <sup>e</sup> Lord Jēshū Christ, that ye all speak the same thing, and that there be no <sup>f</sup> divisions among you; but that ye be <sup>g</sup> perfected together in <sup>h</sup> the same <sup>i</sup> mind and in the same <sup>j</sup> judgment. 11 For it hath been signified unto me concerning you, my brethren, by <sup>k</sup> them that are of the <sup>l</sup> household of Chlōē, that there are <sup>m</sup> contentions among you. 12 Now this I mean, that <sup>n</sup> each one of you saith, I am of Paul; and I of <sup>o</sup> Ā-pōlōs; and I of <sup>p</sup> Cē-phās; and I of Christ. 13 <sup>q</sup> Is Christ divided? was Paul <sup>r</sup> crucified for you? or were ye <sup>s</sup> baptized into the name of Paul? 14 <sup>t</sup> I thank God that I <sup>u</sup> baptized none of you, save <sup>v</sup> Cris-pūs and <sup>w</sup> Gā-jūs; 15 lest any <sup>x</sup> man should say that ye were baptized into my name. 16 And I baptized also the <sup>y</sup> household of Stēphās-nās: besides, I know not whether I baptized any other. 17 <sup>z</sup> For Christ sent <sup>aa</sup> me not to baptize, but to <sup>ab</sup> preach the <sup>ac</sup> gospel: <sup>ad</sup> not in <sup>ae</sup> wisdom of <sup>af</sup> words, lest the <sup>ag</sup> cross of Christ should be made void.

22 For he that was <sup>a</sup> called in the <sup>b</sup> Lord being a <sup>c d</sup> bondservant, is <sup>e</sup> the Lord's <sup>f</sup> freedman: likewise he that was called being free, is <sup>g h</sup> Christ's bondservant. 23 <sup>i</sup> Ye were bought with a price; become not bondservants of men.
24 <sup>k l m</sup> Brethren, let each <sup>n</sup> man, wherein he was called, therein
abide with God.

25 Now concerning <sup>o</sup> virgins <sup>p</sup> I have <sup>q</sup> no commandment of the Lord: but I give my judgment,
as one that hath <sup>r</sup> obtained <sup>s t</sup> mercy of the Lord to be trustworthy. 26 I think therefore that this is good by reason of the <sup>u v</sup> distress that is upon us, namely, that <sup>w</sup> it is good for a man <sup>x</sup> to be as he is. 27 Art thou <sup>y z</sup> bound unto a <sup>a</sup> wife?
seek not to be loosed. Art thou loosed from a wife? seek not a wife. 28 But shouldest thou marry, thou hast not <sup>b</sup> sinned;
and if a virgin marry, she hath not sinned. Yet such shall have <sup>c</sup> tribulation in the <sup>d</sup> flesh:
and I would spare you. 29 But this I say, brethren, <sup>e</sup> the time <sup>f</sup> is shortened, that henceforth both those that have wives may be as though they had none; 30
and those that <sup>g</sup> weep, as though they wept not; and those that <sup>h</sup> rejoice, as though they rejoiced not; and those that buy, as though they <sup>i</sup> possessed not; 31
and those that use the <sup>j</sup> world, as not <sup>k</sup> using it to the full: for the <sup>l</sup> fashion of this world passeth away. 32 But I would have you to be free from <sup>m</sup> cares. He that is <sup>n</sup> unmarried is careful for the things of the Lord, how he may please the Lord: 33 but he that is married is careful for the things of the world, how he may please his <sup>o</sup> wife, 34 and is divided. So also the <sup>p</sup> woman that is unmarried and the virgin is careful for the things of the Lord, that she may be holy both in <sup>q</sup> body and in <sup>r</sup> spirit:

but she that is married is careful for the things of the world, how she may <sup>s</sup> please her <sup>t</sup> husband.
35 And this I say for your own profit; not that I may cast a <sup>u</sup> snare upon you, but for that which is seemly, and that ye may attend upon the Lord without distraction. 36 But if any man thinketh that he behaveth himself unseemly toward his <sup>v</sup> virgin daughter, if she be past the flower of her age, and if need so requireth, let him do what he will; he sinneth not; let them marry. 37 But he that <sup>w</sup> stand-

no necessity, but hath power as touching his own will, and hath determined this in his own heart,
to keep his own <sup>y</sup> virgin daugh-

both he that giveth his own <sup>z</sup> vir-

Even so <sup>n</sup> run; <sup>o</sup> that ye may attain. 25 And every <sup>p</sup> man that <sup>q</sup> striveth in the games exerciseth <sup>r</sup> self-control in all things. Now they <sup>s</sup> do it to receive a <sup>t</sup> corruptible <sup>u</sup> crown; but we an <sup>v</sup> incorruptible. 26 I therefore so run, as not <sup>z</sup> beating the air: 27 but I <sup>a</sup> buffet my <sup>b</sup> body, and bring it into <sup>c</sup> bondage: lest by any means, after that I <sup>d</sup> have <sup>e</sup> preached to others, I myself should be <sup>f</sup> rejected.
